Rusk Tells NATO U.S. Will Stay In Berlin

Capital Hails Spaceman

Shepard Gets Medal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today pinned a hero's medal on the nation's first spaceman, Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr.

The President told Shepard the nation is proud of him and his fellow spacemen.

The 5,100-mile an hour flight through space last Friday, Kennedy said, was a common effort to which many contributed.

"I want to express on behalf of us all the great pleasure we have in welcoming Cmdr. Shepard and Mrs. Shepard here today," Kennedy said in greeting the couple on the White House lawn.

He added that everyone appreciates "the great service he has rendered our country."

"And we are also proud of Mrs. Shepard," Kennedy went on. He praised the other six astronauts and emphasized that "this was a common effort in which many men were involved."

"So I think we'll give them all a hand," the President said. The bystanders did.

"I also want to pay a particular tribute to some who worked on this flight," Kennedy said, naming a number of National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials who worked on the flight that carried Shepard 115 miles into space Friday.

As he ticked off the roll of NASA officials Kennedy observed that the names are not too familiar.

"If the flight had not been a success, the names would have been very familiar," he said with a smile.

He noted also that the flight was made under conditions of full publicity, in a free society willing to "risk much and gain much."

Shepard, his wife and the six men he beat out for the honor of the first American space trip had just flown to the White House by helicopter from Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland. The astronauts flew in from Grand Bahama Island where Shepard had been under observation after his history-making feat. Mrs. Shepard was flown in just ahead of them from Virginia Beach, Va.

A hazy overcast broke up just before the helicopters arrived.

The helicopters landed in front of the White House south entrance where Kennedy, his wife and

Warns Soviets Plan To Revive German Issue

Secretary Urges Buildup of Allied Conventional Forces

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk declared today the United States intends to maintain its presence in West Berlin even if the Russians sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

He told a conference of NATO foreign ministers that Premier Khrushchev should be left in no doubt on this point.

His statement was made at a closed meeting with the gist of his remarks given later to newsmen.

The American secretary of state said he anticipated that Khrushchev would pull the Berlin and German problem out of the bag soon.

Rusk pledged that the U.S. government will prevent any erosion of the Allied position in the divided German city and will seek to balk any Soviet move to sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

Begin Three Day Meeting

Conference sources gave that summary of remarks made by Rusk to the foreign ministers of the other 14 NATO countries who began a three-day meeting today.

Behind closed doors Rusk elaborated on a prediction voiced earlier in the formal opening session by Dirk U. Sikker, the new NATO secretary-general. Stikker predicted that Khrushchev was about to revive the Berlin question, possibly in a new form.

The intertwined Berlin and German problem—long regarded as the most dangerous cold war issue—has been largely dormant now for almost two years. Rusk thought that the Soviet Union now is about ready to make a new effort to pry the American, British and French garrisons out of West Berlin.

Conference sources said Rusk saw the situation this way:

Soviet militancy can be expected to increase all around the periphery of the Western world. Khrushchev may seek to throw the Western world off balance by coming forward with a few conciliatory gestures.

Rusk wants fuller consultation between the 15 members of NATO. As an example, he spoke with great candor about Laos, South Viet Nam and Cuba—all areas where the Communist bloc is pressing the West.

Rusk said the happenings in those places are not isolated incidents but part of a coordinated Soviet testing of Western intentions and a probing for weak spots. He predicted that sort of thing would continue.

Rusk also reviewed the prospects for the deadlocked three-power nuclear test ban negotiations in Geneva. The Soviet demand for a three-man control board to replace a neutral administrator dims not only the chance of securing a nuclear test treaty but also bodes ill for general disarmament negotiations, Rusk explained.

No Decision On Testing

The U.S. government has made no decision yet on whether to resume underground nuclear testing, Rusk said. He promised that America would consult fully with its NATO allies on the whole field of disarmament.

In addition to urging fuller, early consultation among the NATO members, Rusk at the current meeting will also urge a buildup of NATO's conventional military forces so it can answer small fire alarms with something besides an all-out nuclear response. Nuclear weapons would be kept at the ready.

The other ministers already

AT IBOP HOME DEDICATION. E. L. Wheatley, president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, holds aloft a sample of American-made dinnerware during dedication program at IBOP headquarters on Rt. 7 near East Liverpool. Seated are (l. to r.) Joseph Lewis, secretary of union Trades and Labor department, and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

Meany Paints Bleak Picture

Labor Leader Talks At IBOP Dedication

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, speaking at the dedication of the $337,000 headquarters of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters on Route 7 north of East Liverpool Saturday afternoon, painted a bleak picture of the future of industrial employment in this country, despite signs that we are emerging from the recession.

He said there is no sound reason to expect the pickup in business "to have any great effect where we are most deeply concerned - putting America back to work."

Meany said the latest recession "is the fourth in the last eight or nine years. Each of these recessions has ended in a larger number of unemployed than there were before it started."

"When we have 'recovered' according to the statistics there will still be about 65 out of every 1,000 American workers looking for jobs. When we look ahead, we see an even less promising picture. Our work force is growing faster than ever. We have more new workers to place."

"In the ten years just ended, we had a net increase in the work force - the new people minus those who retired or died - of about 800,000 a year. In the 10 years ahead of us the net increase will be, not 800,000 a year, but 1.3 million a year."

"We also have technological changes, especially automation. Last year alone almost a million industrial jobs, the jobs traditionally associated with the labor movement, simply disappeared. Total employment was up, but industrial employment was down."

The labor leader said the American people—and especially American workers — must be

Civil War Medical Services To Be Aired

Dr. Fraser Jackson, East Liverpool physician, will discuss medical services and techniques of the Civil War era at a meeting of the Tri-State Civil War Roundtable Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Carnegie Library at East Liverpool.

Some 300,000 Union soldiers died in the war, but only one-third of the deaths resulted from battles; the remaining two-thirds stemmed from disease. There were 400,000 cases of wounds and injuries, and almost six million cases of sickness.

Some ten physicians from Columbiana County served in the war. Anyone interested in this facet of the conflict is invited to attend, Judge Louis Tobin, president, said.

Weekend Traffic Leaves 7 Injured

Seven persons were injured, five in one accident, in traffic mishaps investigated by highway patrolmen over the weekend.

Two of the five persons injured in a three-car mishap on Rt. 7, one-quarter of a mile south of the Mahoning County line, at 6:45 p.m. Sunday, are in Salem City Hospital today in "fairly good" condition.

They are James L. Cook, 34, of Steubenville, a passenger in one of the cars, with spinal injury and contusions of the back and chest, and Mrs. Richard Freeland, 18, of Newell, W. Va., a passenger in another car, with chest injuries.

Injured in the mishap, treated and released at City Hospital were Clair Swartzmiller, 31, of Weirton, driver of one of the cars, who received a sprained back; Ethel Freeland, 43, of Newell, with lacerations of the right leg, and John Veselica, 30, of Weirton, contusions of the forehead and body abrasions.

Cook and Veselica were passengers in the Swartzmiller car while the Freeland women were riding in an auto driven by Nancy Dale Cox, 23, of Newell.

Patrolmen said the mishap occurred when Ronald Lee Brown, 19, of RD 5, Salem, drove his car out onto Rt. 7 into the left side of the northbound Swartzmiller car, causing the northbound auto to spin into the path of the southbound Cox car.

Considerable damage was sustained by the Cox and Swartzmiller cars, while Brown's auto received minor damage, patrolmen said. Brown was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

2 Hurt As Truck Upsets

Two Youngstown brothers are in good condition today in East Liverpool City Hospital with injuries suffered in a truck mishap on Rt. 39, four miles east of Rt. 164, at 6:30 a.m. Sunday.

Driver of the truck, Gene R. Melott, 26, received a possible skull fracture and lacerations of the scalp, and his brother, Glenn, 17, sustained a possible fracture of the left arm.

The Patrol said the westbound truck went off the right side of the road and overturned.

Owner of Stolen Hubcaps Identified

The owner of two hubcaps, stolen in Salem from a Pennsylvania car in early April and returned by mail to the city recently by the reformed thief, was discovered Saturday.

Mayor Dean Cranmer received a phone call Saturday from Mrs. Patty Kornbau of Beaver Falls, Pa., in which she said her husband had been in Salem High School in April inquiring about a teaching job and had two hubcaps stolen from the rear wheels of his car.

Mrs. Kornbau found out about the return of stolen caps to the city through relatives in Leetonia after they had read a recent news story appearing in the Salem News that told of the return of the hubcaps with a letter from the apologetic thief.

The hubcaps were returned to the owners Saturday.

Laos Truce Unit May Spur Negotiations

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The three-nation Laotian truce commission was scheduled to arrive in Vientiane today and there were hopes it would spur the lagging negotiations between the Western-royal government and the pro-Communist rebels.

So far the opposing factions have not even been able to agree on a site for military and political talks. Both the government and the rebels proclaimed a cease-fire last Wednesday, but three meetings between military representatives since then have failed to work out detailed conditions of the armistice.

About 200 Indian, Canadian and Polish diplomats and soldiers are coming to Laos to supervise and verify the cease-fire. They will separate into two groups, one based at Vientiane and the other at Xieng Khouang, the rebel capital in northeastern Laos.

The royal government has been trying to divorce military details of the cease-fire from the bigger political issues—formation of a coalition government and selection of a unified Laotian delegation to attend the international conference on Laos opening in Geneva Friday.

The rebels want both military and political matters to be discussed together at Na Mone, inside their territory and 35 miles north of the Hin Heup cease-fire line.

When the rebels rejected government demands that military talks be held at Hin Heup, the government agreed to talk at Na Mone. But it insisted that the political talks should take place at Phon Hong, 15 miles south of the cease-fire line and inside government-controlled territory.

4 Persons Dead As Tornadoes Rip Arkansas

8 States Suffer Damage In Millions; Hundreds Homeless

By The Associated Press
Violent storms and floods, the spring season's two-pronged disaster weapon, took a heavy toll in deaths and injuries over the weekend across broad sections of the mid-continent.

Property damage in the storm-battered sections of eight states was in the millions of dollars. Hundreds of persons were made temporarily homeless.

The flash floods and severe weather, including tornadoes, gusty winds, heavy rain and hail, were blamed for at least 29 deaths. Nearly 100 persons were injured.

The American Red Cross in St. Louis said arrangements were made to provide food, clothing, medical care and emergency shelter for an estimated 1,000 families in north central Arkansas, south-east Missouri, northeast Oklahoma, southern Illinois and Kansas.

Severe thunderstorms continued during the morning in many areas from Oklahoma and Kansas northward through the middle and upper Mississippi Valley into the Great Lakes region.

Tornadoes struck six communities in Arkansas Sunday, killing four persons. Three others were drowned in swollen streams in the state. Included were two persons who lost their lives in a flash flood in Harrison, one of the hardest hit towns in the storm belt.

The twisters in Arkansas hit Midway, Whiteville, Clarkridge, Pindall, Summit and Oil Trough. Three persons were killed at Summit, near Yellville, and one person in Midway. About 40 homes were destroyed in a 20-mile area between Pindall and Yellville. Nineteen persons were hurt.

National Guardsmen were sent into Harrison, a community of 6,500, after Gov. Orval E. Faubus declared martial law. Crooked Creek overflowed and sent a wall of water 14 feet high through the streets of the northwest Arkansas town. Two men drowned, and an elderly couple was missing in Harrison. Damage was estimated by Mayor Dene O. Hester at $5 to $10 million. A youth drowned in flooded Sugar Creek near Springdale, the seventh storm-related death in Arkansas.

Tornadoes also pounded South Fork, Mo., about 60 miles north-

Tshombe Faces Treason Trial

Charges Include Lumumba Slaying

COQUILHATVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Joseph Kasavubu's government says it will prosecute Katanga President Moise Tshombe for treason and will try to bring his breakaway province back under central government control.

Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko told a news conference Tshombe would be tried for a series of crimes, including the assassination of former Prince Patrice Lumumba. Kasavubu himself had ordered Lumumba handed over to Tshombe to prevent his escaping custody and regaining control of the government.

Tshombe was arrested April 26 after he walked out of a meeting of Congolese leaders called to try to work out a new form of government for the strife-torn nation. Tshombe accused Kasavubu of "selling out" to the United Nations.

Bomboko said the Leopoldville government would use force if necessary to restore its control over Katanga, the Congo's rich mining province which seceded from the republic soon after independence last summer.

Bomboko declined to specify just how Kasavubu's government would go about taking over Katanga. He said all Belgian advisers would be expelled from the province.

Katanga has the best disciplined and most effective army in the Congo, presumably loyal to Tshombe and commanded by white officers, many of them Belgian. The Katanga Cabinet appeared solidly behind Tshombe's earlier defiance of repeated U. N. demands that he get rid of all foreign military and political personnel. After his arrest, however, the provincial Cabinet took a more conciliatory tone toward the Leopoldville government and promised to discuss the U. N. demands for ouster of the foreigners.

Ohio Legislature Focuses on Budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Were the Republicans right or wrong two years ago when they almost solidly opposed a $310 million tax increase proposed by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle?

The answer may come this week.

The GOP, now back in control of the legislature, is expected to report back to the floor of the House through a finance subcommittee a budget bill to run the state for the next two years.

DiSalle has asked the legislature for a record $2.2 billion in the 1961-63 budget. Some Republicans asserted in the 1960 election campaign that the 1959 legislature, at DiSalle's behest, had taxed Ohioans as much as $100 million more than necessary.

Now comes the proof of the pudding.

How much can the Republicans cut?

The final answer on that question won't be available for several weeks.

Even after budget cuts in the House, Republican senators are awaiting the big appropriations bill, pruning knives in hand.

Sen. William H. Deddens, R-Hamilton, after 25 years' service in both House and Senate, finally has reached the No. 2 spot in the Senate—chairman of the Finance Committee. He's a rough and ready individual with a bent for economy. And right behind him stands the No. 1 man, Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, who, himself, is a former Senate finance chairman.

Mechem publicly announced several weeks ago: "We're going to cut the fat out of that budget—and we're going to cut plenty."

The Senate, from the Republican standpoint, presents another problem.

On the original vote more than two weeks ago, five Democrats joined 19 Republicans—one GOP member was absent—to pass the controversial highway bill by a 24-13 vote. All opponents were Democrats.

Since that date, two Democrats who favored the bill have indicated they will vote to sustain the veto. They are Sens. Oliver Ocasio and Leo Dugan, both of Akron. Another Democrat who voted for the bill originally is ill and not expected to be on the Senate floor for the decision on overriding. He is Sen. John Corrigan of Cleveland.

The Republican who was absent on the original vote is Sen. Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs. He has pledged his vote in the attempt to override to Majority Leader Mechem.

So, with a loss of three votes and a gain of one, Mechem is assured of 22 votes to override. He needs 23.

Reports around the Statehouse are that he has persuaded one Democrat to desert the governor. The veto was on a bill designed to give local governments every penny of the money the state collects from motor vehicle registrations. Local governments now get all the money except about $15 million a year used to operate the Department of Highway Safety, including the State Highway Patrol.

The Republican-sponsored measure proposes to take the cost of operating the Department of Highway Safety out of other Highway

100 Rescued As Excursion Boat Sinks In Buckeye Lake

BUCKEYE LAKE, Ohio (AP)—An excursion boat sank in Buckeye Lake Saturday, but the more than 100 persons aboard, mostly Denison University students and their dates, were rescued by other pleasure craft or swam to shore. "We heard a big clunk when we struck something," was the way Frank Dahl, 19, a Newton, Mass., freshman, described the incident. The "something" apparently was a log, the same thing that sank the double-decked sternwheeler in 1955 when relatively few were aboard. "The crew didn't tell us anything," Dahl related. "None of us even knew there was a hole in the bottom until we started sinking. We were up on top and the boat seemed to be tilting." The $12,000 craft, the Queen of the Lake, went down in eight feet of water, 300-400 feet off the south shore. The water submerged its lower deck. The captain, Jack Carlin, 43, had ordered his passengers to the top deck just before the boat sank.

Witnesses said many of the girls taken off first, were carried to the dozen small rescue craft, and the boys waded through shoulder-high water on the lower deck to get to the waiting boats.

At least six students, including one girl, swam to shore.

About half the students belong to Phi Delta Theta fraternity at Denison. The fraternity had hired the boat for an afternoon of cruising on the lake.

Later, members of Denison's Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and their dates cancelled a moonlight excursion on the lake which had been planned for that same night. "I'm just glad it didn't happen at night," said one of the rescued girls, Eunice Hauser, 20, of Cincinnati.

Ironically, the students reportedly sang a song about the sinking of the Titanic shortly after they began the trip. The Titanic struck an iceberg in the North Atlantic on its maiden voyage in 1912 and went down with a loss of 1,517 lives.

Testifies In Eichmann Trial

Woman Tells of Being Shot By SS, Clawing Out of Grave

JERUSALEM (AP)—A matronly Jewish woman told the Eichmann trial court today of being shot by men of the Nazi SS elite guard, falling into a mass grave, fighting her way up through bodies for air and surviving.

Mrs. Rifka Yosilevsky, a native of Russia who was unable to testify last week because of a mild heart attack, was restrained on the witness stand. But her voice broke when she told of seeing her little daughter shot.

In the Pinsk area in 1942, she said, Jews were rounded up by the hundreds and taken to a burial pit.

Woman Innkeeper Ejects Senator, Justice, Udall

WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman innkeeper said today a drunken troop of hikers—including a Supreme Court justice, a senator and a Cabinet member—turned her place into a picnic area without so much as a "by your leave."

"I came in and found them like sardines in my cocktail lounge, sitting on the bar and eating their own food," said the innkeeper, Mrs. John T. Reges.

Mrs. Reges, the wife of the proprietor of the Old Anglers Inn reacted swiftly: "In a loud voice—in German—I told my maitre d', 'I will give you 10 minutes to get these people out of here.'"

"After they were gone," said Mrs. Reges, "I found out who they were. If they had asked me first, I would have made arrangements, given them a room to dry out in, made them tea. But they didn't ask, they just came in."

The hikers, about 170 strong, were nearing the end of a sudden 16-mile course along the old C&O Canal route from Seneca, Md., to Washington Saturday when they stopped at the inn near the Great Falls of the Potomac. Among them were Justice William O. Douglas, Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Man Seeks $17,952 In Traffic Suit

A suit for $17,952 for injuries and damages allegedly stemming from an auto accident was filed in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon Friday by Ralph Bordner of Darlington, Pa.

William Webb Goodchild, a minor, and his father, W. E. Goodchild, 488 Hawley Ave., Salem, were named defendants. Bordner claims that on May 27, 1959 as he was stopped for a traffic light on State St. his car was struck from the rear by the youth's car. He said he suffered severe back injuries.

John Hanson, who served under the Articles of Confederation in 1781-1782, was first president of the United States.

Her account of what happened then held the 700 spectators spell-bound at the 30th session of the trial of Adolf Eichmann, who is charged with being a chief accomplice in the Nazi extermination of six million Jews.

"We were taken, some in a truck and others forced to run behind it," Mrs. Yosilevsky said. Those in the truck, arriving first, were stripped and shot by the time they got to the freshly dug pit. Her father refused to undress, she said, and his clothing was torn from him.

"There were four devils, SS men, they shot us."

"The children wanted to run. It was hard to hold on to them. We hurried, we were sort of anxious to get it all over. My mother, my grandmother, she was 80 years old and had a baby in her arms, my father, my sister."

"Then it came my turn. The German asked me 'Who shall I shoot first?' I did not answer. My child cried out and was shot. He aimed at me, holding onto my hair and pulling my head around. I heard a shot. Then he ordered me to watch and there was another shot. Then I fell into the pit but I felt nothing."

Mrs. Yosilevsky halted for a moment as though to get her breath.

"I felt a sort of heaviness and thought I was dead. Then I was choking. There were people falling on me. I must be alive, I thought. I could rise. I prayed for another bullet. Then I managed to climb toward the top but I felt bodies pulling at me, pulling me down, down—"

"I crawled out of the pit. There were bodies everywhere. I wanted to see the end of the stretch of bodies but I could not see the end. Some were not dead. I called for my little girl. I could not find her."

Mrs. Yosilevsky said she wandered, naked, dazed and wondering if she was half mad into nearby fields where she lay for three days. Several shepherds saw her and threw stones at her. She remained motionless and convinced them hers was a dead body.

A farmer found her and helped her hide until the area was overrun by the Soviet army.

CITES MISTAKES ON CUBA

BERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., says it was a great mistake for the United States to let Cuban Premier Fidel Castro hypnotize us away from important problems.

"Castro is a mosquito, not a cobra," said Reuss Sunday in a talk at Oberlin College. But the Cuban leader somehow diverted this country from its major work of peacefully reconstructing Latin American, the congressman said. Reuss was one of the originators of the Peace Corps plan, which President Kennedy subsequently endorsed during his election campaign.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Water Helps Avert Stone Formations

Q—What is gravel? What's the difference between gravel and a stone?

A—At all times, urine contains salts in solution. Under certain circumstances, such as an excessive content of certain salts or a change in the reaction of urine, these salts settle out. That's gravel. Most of the time we are unaware of the passage of gravel cause irritation, pain or bleeding.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

When gravel deposits in the kidney or bladder, it may lump together to form a stone. When a small stone or a fragment of a large stone passes down from kidney to bladder, it may cause the agonizing pain of a renal colic. And when an attempt is made to pass the stone out of the bladder the pain may be excruciating. The best way to prevent the formation of gravel or stones is to assure the passage of a dilute urine by drinking large quantities of plain ordinary water. There is no need for waters bottled at special springs.

Q—MY SON RECENTLY had to go down into an oil tank and clean it with chemicals of some kind. When he came out, he said he almost suffocated from the fumes. When he got home, his face was flushed and he had a convulsion. Could this have been from the fumes?"

A—It sounds most likely. He can get definite information at his plant or the Department of Labor. Perhaps he should have worn a mask and failed to do so.

Q—Is there a disease the opposite of diabetes that sometimes causes a person to go into shock?

A—On rare occasions, the cells of the pancreas that manufacture insulin produce more than the body needs. Under these circumstances, the patient may go into "insulin shock" in the same way that a diabetic does after an overdose of injected insulin or after failure to "cover" the correct insulin dose with food.

Sometimes, this condition of spontaneous hyperinsulinemia is due to overactivity on the part of normal cells. But sometimes it's due to the presence of an insulin-producing growth. Either way, exhaustive investigation must be undertaken before a program of treatment can be prepared.

Q—I AM 40 years old and for the past few years I've suffered from backache. One doctor says it's due to a dropped kidney and he wants to operate on me to sew it in place. Another doctor says it's due to a tipped uterus and he wants to operate to put it in place. What am I to do?

A—I'm not sure that either explanation is correct. Back pain is rarely due to any type of kidney disturbance, despite the familiar picture in patent medicine ads—and surely not to a "dropped kidney." Neither is backache often due to misplacements of the uterus. A recent study in Australia showed that less than two per cent of all backaches in women were due to gynecologic conditions. The vast majority, in this as in all other studies, were due to orthopedic conditions such as poor posture, improper shoeing, strained muscles and disturbances of vertebral ligaments, joints and bones.

Steel Ingot Production Rises Rapidly

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel ingot production is gaining momentum faster than was expected, Steel Magazine said today.

The metalworking weekly said second quarter production will be at least 20 per cent higher than the first quarter's output. Reasons cited for the upward revision are automotive demand and steady gains in other markets.

Most steel forecasters feel second quarter ingot production will reach 23.6 million tons, against 19.7 million the first quarter. Reported May output will be close to 8.3 million tons—10 per cent higher than last month's.

Ingot output this week is expected to surpass the 1.9 million tons Steel estimates was poured last week, the eighth straight week of rise.

By the end of the month, Steel said, weekly production could exceed that of a year ago.

Production is at its highest since June, 1960, at Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. plants in Cleveland and Steubenville. The steel operating rate in Youngstown is holding steady, with an outlook of some improvement soon.

Steel said June prospects are clouded because of the strong demand from automakers and some rebuilding of steel inventories at the mill level. Steel's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting dropped 33 cents to $37 a gross ton last week despite the vigorous recovery in steelmaking operations.

ELECTRIC WIRES BURN BOY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Brent Racle, 5, was burned severely Sunday trying to disentangle a kite from high tension wires. Police a long pole, and the resulting electric shock caused third-degree burns on his back and legs.

Only violin factory in the United States is located at Columbus, Ohio. The commercial violin, used by the beginner and the "hillbilly fiddler," is mass-produced here; all other factory-made violins are imported.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

This really is not the story of one George Phillips, though he is an honest teamster who was slugged by three hammer-wielding thugs at 3 o'clock in Brooklyn's broad daylight on Monday, May 1, and told to "lay off."

This is not the story of this trailer truck driver, even if the hammers' mushroom-pointed prongs cut into his ribs and sent him first to St. Catherine's Hospital and then to the North Hudson Hospital in his home city of Weehawken, N. J.

This is not the story of a "guy with guts" even if the newest assault was the second attack on him, the first having blitzed Phillips on Dec. 9 when he walked into a washroom and was given a brutal going over while hundreds of local members were meeting just outside. That time also, it was three to one. And he was hit from behind.

Now the "Phillips case" is in the hands of federal and local law enforcement officials. And until the damage revealed by the hospital x-rays heals, that's all there is to the story of this fighter for decency.

TODAY'S REPORT, really, is the story of more successful, though less bloody and dramatic, fights for democracy by other rank and filers.

They no longer want to see their heritage ripped from them by regional union barons who appear to think there is only one law—their own.

At least 90 times in the last year or so, these local barons have been taught otherwise by the quiet and unassuming Labor Department's Bureau of Labor-Management Reports compliance division.

As an old friend once said, "I'll not talk in generalities but at random — and thus I report to you the case of Local 1617, United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO. It has 1,500 members working at the General Fireproofing Co., Youngstown, Ohio.

This data has just been made available. Last June 11, there was the traditional election at the local. As usual the incumbents were re-elected. On Oct. 10, a formal complaint was filed by some members with Commissioner John Holcombe's Bureau of Labor-Management Reports.

THE CHALLENGERS had used the intervening four months to exhaust all remedies inside the union. The government sent in its investigators. They reported back to Holcombe that there had not been major safeguards for a democratic election. They found more votes counted than had been cast.

Forty-two members who had been checked off as voting had not been in town. One was training with the Marine Corps Reserves. Another was at an out-of-town wedding.

It was discovered that the ballots had been left unattended before the election. There had been no proper listing of those eligible. On the day before the election one person was permitted custody of all ballots.

There had been no tally of unused ballots left after the election. Ballot boxes had been left unattended and unsealed for a while prior to the count. Finally "certain persons" were permitted entrance to the room after the polls were closed but before the boxes were officially opened.

COMMISSIONER Holcombe's men took this evidence first to the local union officers, who rejected any action which would have affected the old election. So the bureau went to the International Steelworkers headquarters at 1500 Commonwealth Bldg., Pittsburgh.

The central headquarters suspended the local officials and put in an administrator. A new election was held on March 11. There was a complete reversal.

Of the six top offices, five were captured by the challengers, including the presidency. This went to Edward Kopstoffer. Instead of losing by some 300 votes, he now won by a three to one margin—935 to the incumbent's 321.

This is the 81st such election straightened out by the bureau set up under the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act. Eighty-one times, the bureau has retrieved democracy for union memberships without going into court. At the moment an additional nine elections are in litigation.

Thus slowly but with certainty the public defenders move — because there is a law which makes it possible and there are enforcers who respect all others as they would have the others respect the law.

This may not yet help the George Phillips. But at least there is progress.

Out In the Cold As Usual

Alliance spokesmen have expressed satisfaction with State Highway Division 4's proposal to construct a combination Routes 62, 224 and 14 highway. But why shouldn't they?

The joint facility, as outlined last week by Division 4 headquarters, will take Route 62 just west and north of Alliance and on to North Benton where the projected four-lane, limited access highway would run east and west.

THIS WOULD LEAVE SALEM, as usual, "short-changed" by the Ohio Highway Department.

The Salem Area Chamber of Commerce has been spearheading a campaign to get the state to relocate Route 62 eastward to Salem and bypass our community to the immediate south. This path, if approved, also would keep 62 near Alliance and thereby serve the interests of both important cities.

On the other hand, the combination Routes 62, 224 and 14 super-road looks like another scheme to concentrate major highway projects in a northern area already blessed with better roads than we have.

THE CITY OF SALEM has fulfilled every detail of comprehensive planning and engineering that was requested of it by the State Highway Department years ago as a basis for securing highway improvements, yet administrations have come and gone at Columbus with nary a cent being spent on any major project in this area.

Millions of dollars have been spent on projects elsewhere in the state. Any motorist who travels any distance knows that.

Could it be that our Republican leaders had little influence before and that now our Democratic officials have no real ties with Columbus either?

It's time to find out!

Era of Historic Achievement

In the pattern and spirit of propaganda, the first American to be rocketed into space and brought back would have said something like this:

"Please report to the Democratic party, the Kennedy administration and personally to John F. Kennedy, our leader, that the project went on schedule all the way."

"I feel well, have no injuries or bruises and am anxious to go aloft again in the service of my Republic. I and my fellow astronauts feel that our efforts are the fruition of the world's most productive society, whose secret is its built-in incentive system."

"As is well known, our incentive has been doubled and redoubled as far as flights into space are concerned by the fact the Soviet Union beat us to the punch while we were preoccupied with maintaining the world's highest standard of living. God bless America."

"But we do hereby pledge our honor as sons of freedom that in the Space Age we shall spare no effort to do what Americans always have done successfully — distribute its blessings, whatever they may be, equitably throughout the world's population."

"It is no accident that the Age of Aviation was brought into being by the mass production of dependable commercial planes in the United States, just as the Automobile Age was made to materialize by mass production of workable automobiles at a price the people could afford to pay."

"I salute the American way of life. I salute the Republic. I salute my associates."

Be Kind to the Animals

There is one point of view about children that all of them are born with cruelty in them and it must be trained out of them.

Another point of view holds that most children are born without cruelty in them and learn to do cruel things.

There's no way to settle it, but the American Humane Association's Be Kind to Animals Week is a good time to think about it.

All Better Spellers

Spelling contests are over for the season, except for 12-year-old Karen Sherwood who will enter the National Bee in Washington, D.C. May 29 because she won the regional event at Canton Friday.

But what of the 37 other contestants, including last year's champion who did not repeat this time? Have they lost out entirely? Not on your life! By studying they are better prepared for future school days and years of adult life where a thorough knowledge of the English language will pay many dividends—socially and economically. The Salem News co-sponsors the spelling contests because it believes that youngsters need every encouragement to improve their spelling. Textbooks are meaningless unless a child can understand the words.

Once Over

Dear Mr. President: I don't dig your statement "a greater adversary than Russia is our own unwillingness to do what must be done." When you say "our" you must mean the people including me.

Would you do me a favor by taking the "MUST" out of the MIST? How can I be unwilling to do something when I don't know what it is?

What should I be doing? You want I should leap into Laos, challenge Castro to a duel, offer to help in the Algerian crisis or build my own spaceship to the moon?

I ain't met nobody who ain't sore over being fingered as a greater enemy of the U.S.A. than Khrushchev, Gromyko, Zorin and those boys. Sure I know Americans are living it up, rolling in luxury and a little bugged by de luxe upholstery.

You want they should sell the car, turn in the soft furniture, cut out the weekend auto trip and put less checks in the chicken soup.

Would it help if I postponed my $2 haircut, cut the fishing trip and bought a smaller bungalow?

You got me groggy. Should I jump on the village green bandstand and say "Fellow citizens, you and me are worse foes of Uncle Sam than the U.S.S.R. Stop being adversaries?"

Lay it on the line, Mr. President. Tell me what I am unwilling to do. Blueprint my "unwillingness area." Call the turn, make it clear and put some "socko" into it. Leave no room for misunderstanding.

The people will go along. You will see the unwillingness do a fast fadeout. The "greater adversaries than Russia" will do the tastiest disappearing act in history.

Gorgely yours, John Q. Citizen.

P.S.: Yes, even if it's higher taxes. Taxes will win no popularity contest but the people will pay through the nose rather than take the rap as greater enemies of America than Khrushchev.

Liquor Battle Brewing

By DUANE E. CROFT
Salem News Staff Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A battle is brewing in the General Assembly over a liquor bill that so far has proceeded quietly along the legislative route.

The reason is a section of the bill that has been dubbed a real "sleeper" by liquor enforcement officials and a number of legislators, including one of the original sponsors of the measure.

The bill is aimed at cracking down on beer and liquor sales to minors, a problem that is becoming increasingly widespread and serious in Ohio.

Just about everybody aware of the problem concedes that its growth is the result of the language in the present law, which makes the permit holder who sells and the minor who buys equally responsible.

This means that teen-agers can, and often do, take advantage of tavern keepers by offering false documents as proof of age. If the permit holder still refuses to sell, they have committed no crime. If he accepts the false evidence and makes the sale, they know he is "hooked" and stands to lose more than they do if he is caught.

Tired of Courthouse Feuding
Regarding the Lisbon Court, have grown quite weary of the commissioners' childish actions to the point of indignation.

Let there be no "individualism," "favoritism" or "politicalism," just settlement of the contention of the issue that has been hanging.

We quite agree we all like to be well-informed of all issues and local affairs and to know what is going on but this has been going on too long.

Let's get back to work for the good and well-being of all, so as to uphold the respect of the country community and maintenance of official dignity.

So They Say

To deny tax-paying American citizens of the Orthodox Jewish faith the benefit of their taxes justly due to their children is a discrimination which is not in accordance with basic American ideals.—Jewish organization Agudath Israel, endorsing Federal aid to church schools.

I have no means of knowing whether President Kennedy is a Communist or not.—Reville Pendleton Oliver, professor of classics at U. of Illinois, and member of super-patriotic John Birch Society.

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO — Carol Bartholow, Nancy Heidenreich and Ann Hanstien won prizes at a recent meeting of the Teen Tri club at the home of Shirley Astory.

25 YEARS AGO — Miss Lena Vansickle, senior nurse at St. John's hospital in Cleveland, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Vansickle of Homewood Ave.

35 YEARS AGO — Mrs. Homer Peters and Mrs. Phoebe Nichols were recent Canton visitors.

The bill now awaiting floor action in the House would put more of the burden of blame on teen-agers.

It would make it an offense for a juvenile to attempt to buy beer or liquor illegally or knowingly to offer false evidence of his age. If he were caught, he would be subject to prosecution as a juvenile delinquent.

This approach is approved by Ivan W. Smith, liquor enforcement chief, and others who are concerned about the sale to minors problem, including Rep. Ethel Swanbeck, R-Erie, a co-sponsor of the bill with Rep. Fred K. Cassel, R-Wyandot.

Floor Fight Possible

What promises to stir up a major floor fight, however, is another section of the bill which would allow a permit holder to defend himself in a minor sales case by showing that he:

DEMANDED and was shown a driver's license, draft card "or other official document that may be issued by any department or agency of this state."

REQUIRED the signature of the purchaser on a statement bearing a physical description of the youth.

KEPT the statement on file for inspection by enforcement officers.

Mrs. Swanbeck sees this section as an "escape clause" for permit holders who want to cheat on the law by selling to minors.

She says she did not envision the addition of the section to the bill and complains that she was not consulted about it by the subcommittee which wrote it.

Says Guilt Hampered
Smith has testified before the House Government Operations Committee that it might be impossible ever to convict a tavern keeper for a minor sales violation if the section goes into the law.

"We are in favor of putting more of the burden in these cases on the minors," he said, "but there should be no decrease in the responsibility of the permit holder. That would be the same as substituting the judgment of an adult who has a special responsibility to the community in which he operates his business."

Smith also complains that he was not consulted by the subcommittee which drafted the so-called sleeper.

He says he attended a meeting at which liquor industry lobbyists also were present, but no decision was reached. When he showed up the following week for the next scheduled subcommittee meeting, he says, neither the legislators nor the liquor lobbyists were present.

Not Told, He Says

An ally of Smith and Mrs. Swanbeck in the argument is another lobbyist, Rev. Lewis Barber of the Ohio Temperance League. He also views the defense clause as an "escape mechanism" that would provide permit holders with a loophole through the law.

Cassel, however, takes another view. As chairman of the subcommittee, he says there was no effort to relieve permit holders of any of their responsibility.

He says all three terms of the defense section must be met before they can claim defense. He also insists the "nuisance value" alone of the statement requirement will discourage tavern keepers from risking sales to minors.

Cards Suggested

He adds that the document provision opens the way for adoption of a "foolproof" identification card issued by the liquor department to adults who might have trouble proving their age.

But Smith says the department has no legislative authorization for such a system and, even if it did, the language of the defense section allows an option to the tavern keeper.

He maintains this still provides a loophole, because a driver's license or draft card is "unreliable" because it can be forged or used by someone other than its legal owner.

One interesting aspect of the controversy is that an identical defense section has been included in a Senate bill on the same subject.

Enjoined by Liquor Folk

In addition, the defense section has the wholehearted endorsement of Isadore Topper, lobbyist for the Buckeye Retail Liquor Dealers Association; George Hinde of the Wholesale Beer Association of Ohio, and Robert N. Krieger of the Ohio Brewers Association.

Both the Senate and House bills have been recommended for passage by the committees which heard them. The House committee defeated a move by Rep. Bernie K. MacKenzie, D-Stark, to strike the defense section.

The next move is expected to come on the House floor, when another attempt to strike that clause is planned.

Mrs. Swanbeck says she will strongly support the move. If it fails and the defense section remains in the bill, she may be in the unhappy position of having to vote against a measure that bears her name.

In the meantime, she is marshaling all the forces she can keep that from happening.

New Wage Spiral?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Writer Rips Timing of Minimum Pay Boost

The possibility of a setback in business is not a pleasant thing to discuss but what has just been hailed as a victory for President Kennedy, when Congress passed the new minimum wage bill, could turn out to be a measure that actually prolongs the present recession.

Up to now, David Lawrence it always has been thought to be the better part of wisdom to keep wage rates stable during a recession and wait for better times. But the Democrats in Congress have just taken a step which not only affects the 24 million workers who are covered by minimum wage laws but provides labor unions with the excuse to start a demand for a general wage increase.

Instead of permitting the nation to treat the wounds it has received as a result of the dislocation of the national economy by the steel strike, the unions which have the support of the Kennedy administration now have driven ahead to start a wave of wage increases.

The larger businesses will not be hurt as much as will small business. The new minimum wage law will cause the loss of jobs to many persons now employed. Small businesses generally will not be able to pay the increased wage and will have to cut down the number of their employees.

Congress knew that a serious disruption would occur and did heed the pleas of some small businesses when laundry workers and cotton gin employees were exempted from the provisions of the proposed law.

There is no doubt that small businesses will have to lay off employees so as to meet the higher payroll imposed on an already narrow margin of profit.

It was something of a surprise to see the House vote go up to 230 from the 216 affirmative votes cast on March 24. The opposition vote dropped from 203 to 196. What caused this shift?

THE ANSWER is that the administration played its political cards shrewdly, especially among House members from the South. The White House announced the other day that it is going to do something to alleviate the woes of the textile industry by providing quotas on foreign imports. This interests the South. Likewise, cotton gin employees were exempted. This also helped to win Southern votes.

This And That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

How far do you drive your car in a year? The figure for the average U.S. motorist is 9,571 miles.

Bachelors have it easy today compared to those in ancient Sparta, where celibacy was treated as a crime. A man usually married at 20. Those that delayed too long were waylaid by gangs of women and beaten up.

Here's something you probably didn't know about your eyes: It takes them only one-thirtieth of a second to see an object in black and white, but a fifth of a second to see anything in color.

Who is responsible for the martini? San Franciscans claim this potent drink—originally called the martinez—was invented in the Occidental Bar in the early 1860s. (The real question isn't who—but why!)

How they got started: Mel Allen, sportscaster for the New York Yankees, first exercised his vocal cords selling popcorn at the age of 10 in the Detroit ball park.

Our Quotable Notables: "Let no one who loves be called altogether unhappy."—James M. Barrie.

Restaurant Lore: Those tall white hats which chefs proudly wear have been a symbol of prestige with them since 1566, when the king of France officially recognized the cooks' union.

The average American woman (if any woman can be called average) has a step of 26 inches. She takes 2,437 steps per mile and walks about 5 miles a day.

Our nomination for the most interesting newspaper ad of the year, reported published in a British paper: "The Clairvoyant Society will not hold its usual meeting this week due to unforeseen circumstances."

Tip to Housewives: You can improve the flavor of instant coffee if you cover the cup with its saucer for 15 seconds after pouring in the boiling water.

Odd Legislation: In some states a beauty operator's license can be revoked if, when giving a shampoo, she fails to lather the customer's hair at least twice.

Is your child good in arithmetic? Then encourage him to become an accountant. There is a big boom now in this career field. Business talent scouts touring college campuses are offering graduate accountants starting salaries of $450 to $500 a month.

A concession was also made to operators of laundries by exempting their workers. Though this hurts Negro employees, the result nevertheless was to gain votes in the South. The whole incident is being pictured as a blow to the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Apparently the administration has the political wherewithal to break down the Democratic party's conservatives in the South. The significance of what has just happened is that, by throwing a bone here and there, a number of votes in the House were obtained by the administration for the minimum wage bill.

The first of a series of increases will go into effect within four months for at least 2½ million workers.

The proprietors of the business establishments involved will have to begin soon to make provision for the increased compensation and this will mean considerable readjustment. For something more than a wage increase for the regular work week is involved. The rate goes up also on the time-and-a-half basis for overtime.

PERHAPS the biggest consequence will come in handling wage scales above the minimum. Differentials are maintained between different worker classes. Hence, when the minimum goes up, it affects workers all along the line above the minimum, too.

This is hardly the opportune moment for readjusting wage scales on a broad basis but the administration has plowed ahead irrespective of consequences. The unemployment compensation rolls will soon tell the story in increased applicants.

Shouldn't the minimum wage be increased? Certainly there is every reason for providing higher and higher compensation for everyone who has to face the decreasing purchasing power of the dollar. But there is a good time for such an adjustment and a bad time.

Recession months are not an occasion for further deterioration of the employment rolls. The period should be used to build a sound and stable economy so that wage increases will be paid out of an expanding prosperity and increased national growth.

The tragic part of the story is that, when the present recession drags on or is followed after a brief recovery by another dip, the cry will be for more spending by government. Yet the incentives so essential to a genuine recovery are being neglected and the drift is toward more and more makeshift remedies and distortions of the wage structure.

English Law Hits Royce

LONDON (AP) — The Rolls-Royce, line of the truly opulent, mbe on the way out.

The corby that has built plush motor kings, oil rich sheikhs, tonaires and film stars face financial crisis.

The trouble is caused by the recent British government law limiting to 1000 pounds—$5,600—the income deduction for automobiles company executives.

Lord Kirsley, chairman of Rolls-Royce, warned the government his company has been so hit by the tax law the firm's division may have to cease production.

In less than three weeks since Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd's budget proposal, the Rolls ordoek has shrunk by 75 per cent.

Rolls prtags range upward from 6,000 pounds—$16,800. The Crewe produces only 2,400 a year and half of them go in export. January the wait for a new 1 was 12 months.

Since the get the wait has dropped to five months and within six weeks delivery is expected to "immediate."

How good a business manager are you for the most precious people of all? You can find out from your Metropolitan man with a

FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP

Every year millions of fathers have health check-ups. Yet, millions of fathers don't check up on their family's financial health.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company now offers a service which lets you do just that: The Family Security Check-Up. It is a service which can bring you new information and correct mistakes. It lets you make sure you've planned your family's future with your head as well as your heart.

What you could lose without one

There are mistakes, oversights, gaps in the average man's financial security program. Too much of it is haphazard. Too much of it is left to chance. It lacks a plan. Or, too often, it simply falls behind the times.

For example, the Social Security law has been changed nine times since its inception. And the Social Security benefits your wife and children could get may not dovetail efficiently with your pension or insurance programs. Then too—you can unintentionally "disinherit" a child, in effect, if you have overlooked naming him among your beneficiaries.

More than an interview—a service

Metropolitan, the Company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers a way to check up on your family's financial health.

Metropolitan representatives have been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and are qualified by solid experience to bring you this Family Security Check-Up service. They are equipped with businesslike charts and tables that show you exactly where you stand.

Whether you need insurance or not, this service makes sense. Remember, Metropolitan is as local as Main Street—as close as your phone. Call your Metropolitan man today.

There is no obligation—except to those you love.

Family Security Check-Up
WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES FOR YOU

With the help of your Metropolitan man

1. You check the facts: your Social Security, your home, your life insurance, your pension plan, your savings and other assets. You may be surprised to learn how much you're worth.
2. You weigh your responsibilities: mortgage or rent payments, education, retirement, accident and sickness emergencies; how much it would cost your family to live without you.
3. You learn where you stand. You determine your weak and strong points . . . whether the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend. You get the facts in front of you.
4. You plan for the future. Based on these facts, you decide what action, if any, may be needed to give you a family security plan, tailor-made to your own needs and ambitions—one which makes good sense for you.

Clement J. Maresh

Clement Joseph Maresh, 45, of 840 E. Pershing St., died of a cerebral hemorrhage Saturday at 3:30 p.m. in Salem City Hospital. He was stricken two hours earlier.

Born in Racine, Wis., he was a son of Joseph and Rose Zahner. He had lived in Salem about two years and was a former employee of Haber's Furniture Co., Youngstown. He served in the Navy in World War II.

Besides his wife, Mary, he is survived by three sons, Thomas, Larry and Terry; two daughters, Marilynne and Carolynne; and three brothers, Roland, Charles and Raymond, all of Racine.

The body is at the Stark Memorial pending funeral arrangements in Racine.

Muscular Dystrophy Chapter Is Formed

A Columbiana County Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association was formed Sunday night in Lisbon Village Hall. A 15-member executive board was chosen, and officers were elected.

The officers are: President, John Cosma of Columbiana; first vice-president, Mrs. Robert Talbot of Salem; second vice-president, Miss Jane Royle of Salem; secretary, Mrs. John Cosma of Columbiana; and treasurer, Mrs. Albert Beeson of Salem.

Presiding was Russell Catanes, executive secretary of the Cleveland Association. He was assisted by Michael Yarsh of Youngstown, president of the Mahoning County chapter.

Application for a charter has been made at National Headquarters Muscular Dystrophy Association, New York, N. Y. Upon receipt of the charter, the chapter will hold its first meeting.

More than $7,000 was collected last year by local campaign workers. When a charter is received, the county will keep 25 percent of the funds collected, with the remaining 75 percent going to national headquarters for research.

Anyone in this area who has the disease or knows of anyone suffering from the ailment is urged to contact a chapter officer, who will arrange for assistance in supplying needs of the patient.

aroused to a new sense of urgency about our problems at home.

"The American labor movement must take the lead in arousing America. But first we must arouse ourselves," he said. "The man who has a job must realize that his security is tied in with the man who is out of work."

Meany said he had no blueprint for solving all the problems, but that the labor movement had legislative, organizing, and political action programs which would start labor and the country in the right direction.

agree with the goals Rusk see to attain. They are expected to give formal approval to both proposals during their three-day conference which opened today in Norway's picturesque capital.

Agreeing on goals is one thing. Achieving them will be a great deal harder.

The NATO allies have been talking about increasing consultation for 10 years and doing little about it. No foreign ministry finds it easy to share its worries and doubts even with its closest associates.

But President Kennedy's administration is proposing to talk over all its problems in Southeast Asia, Europe and even in Latin America with the other NATO allies on condition that the other 14 members of the alliance are equally frank.

An informant explained that a country formulates policy in the early stage of a problem. That is the time when the advice of an ally can have influence. Later all the consultation in the world may not be able to change the line a country is following.

Laos, Algeria, Angola and Cuba are all issues which have more or less solidified, the source said. But even in those cases advice still might be of some use, and it would be particularly helpful in a developing problem like South Viet Nam, the next obvious target for Red infiltration in South East Asia.

Hanoverton

Outdoor Cookery session set up for next week by the Hanover Township demonstration group has been cancelled. It will be held Thursday, May 25, at Guilford State Park. For further information contact Mrs. Harrison Burnham or Mrs. Camille Kelton.

Mrs. Russell Graber served as co-host when Mrs. Walter Watson received the members of the Presbyterian Women Guild in her home recently. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Dan Sanor, Mrs. Karl Stoudt and Mrs. Patsy Severs. Mrs. Paul Clapsaddle led the Bible Study. Mrs. Robert Ward presided at the business meeting. 1,200 At Senior Citizens Hobby Show

More than 1,200 guests were registered at the Salem Senior Citizens Club Hobby and Craft Show Saturday and Sunday in the Memorial Building.

The group sponsored a gift shop and a baked goods booth Saturday in connection with their displays of handwork made at club craft sessions and personal collections of various items including coins, china, glassware and paintings.

In the picture above Carl Burcaw, past president of Senior Citizens, and Mrs. J. Raymond Stiver, club adviser and director, chat with Mrs. Mary Robinson, who had an unusual bead display.

The Senior Citizens Chorus and Kitchen Cabinet Band entertained Saturday and Sunday evenings, and the Knox Township Senior Citizens Club presented a program of music and readings Sunday afternoon.

This was the second show of its kind to be presented by the local club which now has 227 members enrolled. Mrs. Raymond Stiver is director of the group, which is sponsored by the Park Commission and Memorial Building.

Traffic

Falls, Pa., was cited by patrolmen for an improper left hand turn following a two-car mishap on Rt. 626, one mile southeast of Rt. 164, at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Patrolmen said Laderer made a left hand turn into the side of an auto driven by Delmore Bowser, 24, of Youngstown, as Bowser attempted to pass on the left side.

Albert E. Allmon, 18, of Columbiana, lost control of his eastbound car as he applied his brake on wet pavement, causing the car to slide into the side of a westbound auto operated by Ronald W. Dicken, 22, of Columbiana, on the Middleton Road, one-half mile west of Rt. 7, at 2:45 p.m. Sunday.

Slippery pavement also helped cause a one-car accident on the Western Reserve Road, one and one-half miles east of Rt. 46, at 8:50 p.m. Sunday.

Patrolmen said Noel F. Mehlow, 21, of Youngstown, applied the car's brakes to slow down behind another eastbound car, but slid to the left side of the road and into a fence on the Leroy Anderson property.

Extensive damage was received by the car, patrolmen said. Mehlow was cited for driving left of center.

East Goshen

Mother and daughter banquet for ladies of the East Goshen Friends Church was served by Men in Missions Group. Mrs. Curtis Santee conducted devotions. Others participating in the program were Mrs. Clarence Sekerak, Becky Sekerak, Joan Malmesberry, Nancy Lockhart, Linda Weingart, Sally Weizencker, and Mrs. Donald Oswalt. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Jack Moff, Mrs. G. Miller, Mrs. Gerald Oprandi.

There were television cameras in the presidential office, but no audio. So the President's words to the space team were not immediately public.

Mrs. Kennedy led Mrs. Shepard away to another part of the White House to have coffee.

Shepard, on his landing at Andrews gave out a vast understatement: "We have learned that the others were waiting.

Reading the citation to Shepard from NASA, Kennedy called it a "civilian award for a great civilian accomplishment."

"I want again to express our appreciation to Alan Shepard," he said. "We are very proud of him."

He handed Shepard "this decoration," with a joke about it coming from the ground up.

Kennedy had just dropped the medal to the wooden floor of the platform erected on the White House grounds for the ceremony.

Shepard himself grinned broadly.

Shepard said he got far less sleep Sunday night "than I did the night before the flight."

"I am very mindful of the honor which has been bestowed on me, an honor which really should go to the hundreds of people who made my flight possible."

Shepard said the work has been going on about two years "in a devoted effort to put a man in space, and it is really to these hundreds of people that the accolades of today should go."

He said he was most anxious to talk to the President about the flight, and eager "to tell you all and to tell the world about it."

The speechmaking was all over when Mrs. Kennedy spoke quietly to her husband—the President had forgotten to pin the medal on Shepard.

Kennedy grinned at her, then deftly pinned the decoration—awarded only once before—on the astronaut's lapel.

The decoration is the NASA Distinguished Service Medal.

Amid the laughter of onlookers, Kennedy after pinning the medal on Shepard's lapel then waved him before television cameras, saying "everybody wants to see it."

Shepard appeared completely relaxed and at ease during the brief outdoor ceremony.

Dignitaries and rank-and-file members of the White House staff cheered Shepard when he arrived, when Kennedy introduced him, and when he completed his short talk.

world and the United States is pretty pleased at what we have all done."

By "we" he specified that he included the other six astronauts and their scientific associates.

Shepard was as much at home behind the microphones at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland as he was at the controls of his capsule.

Authorities decreed that the reception and celebration should be quiet, with the accent on earnest accomplishment and no letup in that. Tuesday will be another work day for the astronauts.

It is apparent to Shepard, and to everybody else in the space program, that much lies ahead before America can catch up with the feats of the Russians, who were first to send a man into orbit around the world.

There was a crowd of about 1,000 at Andrews Air Force Base. Close members of Shepard's and his wife's families gathered on the runway as the plane taxied to a stop.

In the group with Mrs. Shepard were the astronaut's parents, retired Army Col. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard of East Derry, N. H., a sister, Mrs. Gordon Sherman of North Attleboro, Mass., and Mrs. Shepard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Brewer of Kennett Square, Pa.

Shepard walked smiling down the plane's ramp, went directly to his mother to get a big kiss, then turned to his waiting wife for another kiss while the crowd applauded.

Shepard's wife and parents walked with him to the microphones set up nearby.

"I want to thank you all at Andrews Air Force Base for this wonderful welcome," Shepard said, emphasizing that he was speaking for all the astronauts and their scientific associates.

The whole crew of seven man-in-space aspirants had flown in with him from Grand Bahama Island.

Items of Information of Interest to the Homeowner

From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the homeowner.

Hardwood flooring manufacturers are disturbed because the word resilient is always applied to certain kinds of flooring materials but seldom to hardwood. They say that hardwood floors are truly resilient, being capable of withstanding shock without permanent deformation or rupture and being able to absorb shock caused by walking.

A motivation research firm has completed a survey to determine what factors most influence the purchase of a house. Those interviewed were asked to rank five factors according to importance. The factors were: style of house; type of construction and materials; size of rooms; arrangement of rooms; and low price. According to the company, 74 per cent rated construction and materials first. Next came size of rooms, arrangements of rooms, and low price.

Thinking about making a patio or terrace? For a concrete floor that's a little different, you might consider the use of brightly colored pebbles imbedded in the concrete and left exposed. This not only gives a striking finish that blends with the surrounding landscape, but provides a non-skid surface.

A gentlemen we know who wanted a second bathroom in his home, but had very little space for it, solved the problem by using undersized mobile-home fixtures. He discovered that he could get a bathtub only 46½ inches long. Made of fiberglass-reinforced plastic, with molded-in color, the tub fitted neatly into the small space available. He was able to finish the bathroom with other under-sized fixtures weighing considerably less than the conventional types.

Speaking of space—or the lack of it—there's usually more of it in your home than you realize. In closets, for example, there is usually a lot of wasted space over the clothes poles. This area can be outfitted with a series of shelves and/or a perforated hardboard panel. Fitted with specially-made hooks, these panels can be utilized for hanging hats and other bits of wearing apparel that are used only occasionally. There is extra space, too, under desks and typewriter tables, under the kitchen sink, under the bathroom lavatory and in some kitchens, over the cabinets.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: I expect to rent a spray gun soon for a project I will be working on. I have been reading up on spraying and have a pretty good idea of the subject, but opinions differ on how far the gun should be held from the material being sprayed. Can you help me?

ANSWER: In most cases, the spray gun should be held about 12 inches from the work. But this is by no means an inflexible rule. A lot depends on what kind of fluid is being used and how much it has been thinned, if any. For that reason, it is always wise to test the gun first on some scrap stock. You want a finish that will cover well yet does not sag or run. If you get a dryish, dusty spray that does not seem to cover the material thoroughly, it means that you are holding the gun too far away. If the sprayed fluid begins to run and sag, it means that the gun is being held too close.

An important factor is that the spraying is done across the material on a straight line—with no arcing motion. When spraying a surface that is horizontal, begin at the edge nearest you. If you start at the far side and come toward you, the last few strokes will send spray dust onto the part of the work that is already completed.

for home comfort and health...

A SENSATIONAL NEW AUTOMATIC AIR PURIFIER!

You've never experienced such clean, pure air in every room in your home, because there's never been an air purifier like this. Latest product of Carrier research, it attaches to a warm air furnace, provides these four important benefits:

PURIFICATION—Pollens and other harmful elements are continuously removed from the air. This power to reduce contamination and thus purify the air has been well established by laboratory test.

CLEANLINESS—A unique filter, self-cleaning to maintain its high efficiency, makes homes cleaner, too. Less need to dust. Furnishings stay fresher longer, so cleaning bills go down.

ODOR REMOVAL—Cooking and other odors are whisked away. Even air heavy with pipe, cigar and cigarette smoke is sweet and fresh again in minutes.

HUMIDITY CONTROL—Moisture is fed into bone-dry warm air that irritates sinus and nasal passages and causes furniture to come apart.

This sensational Air Purifier can also be added to an air conditioning system. For details, come in or call.

Wynn Hawkins Wins 3rd As Tribe Splits With Nats

Hurls 4-Hitter In 4-2 Victory

John Temple Has Hit Streak Snapped

CLEVELAND (AP)—Wynn Hawkins is the Cleveland Indians' "Sunday special."

The 25-year-old right-hander from New Waterford, Ohio, has a 3-0 record and all the victories were posted on Sundays. The latest was a four-hit, 4-2 decision over the Washington Senators. The Indians lost the nightcap of a twin-bill, however, 4-3, when they failed to come through in the clutch, despite 13 hits.

Hawkins appeared to be a major leaguer a year ago, but ran into trouble and was sent down to Toronto last July. The time was well spent however. He won seven of 10 with the International League champs.

Improved to Toronto
"I'm a better pitcher for it," Hawkins said after his latest complete game, second in a week. "I was making too many bad pitches."

"They'd come in streaks and then somebody would have a big inning against me. I think I know more about the batters this season... So far I've managed to keep loose most of the time. That important."

"The only thing I have to guard against is feeling too strong," said the former Baldwin-Wallace College basketball star. "That may seem strange, but with too much rest I find myself throwing the ball too hard."

"I lose my control and that's something I have to have," Hawkins walked three Senators and struck out three. His earned run average is 1.17.

Sim Wynn—a 6-foot-2, 190-pounder—fed the Senators his dipping forkball and was in control all the way. The Indians snapped a 1-1 tie in the sixth frame with a three-run burst. Two tallies crossed on Bubba Phillips' double.

Johnny Temple, still the league leading hitter at .408, had his 19-game hitting skid snapped in the opener. But he roared back with three hits in the nightcap.

Gene Woodling, who hit a solo homer off Hawkins in the ninth inning of the opener, hit a big three-run blast in the sixth frame of the nightcap off Jim (Mudcat) Grant.

Tied Score in Seventh
Trailing 3-1, the Indians scored single runs in the sixth and seventh to draw even. But then, with Frank Funk pitching, Dale Long singled and scored on Willie Tashy's single after Funk uncorked a wild pitch to get Long to second base.

The Tribe seemed to have a comeback started in the ninth on singles by Tito Francona and Jimmy Piersall with one out. But Marty Kutyna came in from the bullpen and made Woodie Held rap into a game-ending double play.

"We may be leading the league in hitting, but we can't get that man in from third," moaned Dykes.

The Indians, off today, journey to Chicago to open a two-game series with the White Sox Tuesday night.

2 College Cagers Accused Of Petty Theft

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Two University of North Carolina basketball players, Lou Brown and Jim Donohue, have been accused of petty theft, stealing from a hospital here a gumball vending machine operated for the blind.

At Chapel Hill, home of the university, Detective Sgt. Howard Pendergraft described it as "just a foolish prank that college kids will pull."

He added that Donohue returned the machine intact after questioning last week — it had not been opened.

Warrants calling for bond of $200 for each of the accused have arrived at Chapel Hill from Wilmington, and Pendergraft said that Donohue's would be served today.

Brown, who dropped out of school after involvement in the current national basketball point shaving scandal, is at his home in Jersey City, and out of jurisdiction.

CANFIELD TO TRY AGAIN

Canfield Speedway will try for the fourth time this Saturday to get the 1961 stock car racing season under way. Rain last Saturday halted the Speedway's third attempt to launch the season. Late models and amateurs will share the program this week.

UMPIRES TO MEET

The Salem Umpires Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Memorial Building to discuss rules and umpiring assignments. All umpires in Classes E through H are urged to attend.

Pirates Edged 4-2 by Dodgers

Reds Belt Braves Twice, Climb Into Second Place

By The Associated Press
Cincinnati made it eight in a row Sunday and climbed into second place in the National League. The Reds swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 5-4 and 4-0. First place San Francisco blanked Philadelphia 7-0, Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 4-2 and St. Louis took Chicago 4-2.

Cincinnati turned on the home run power when four out of five batters — Frank Robinson, Wally Post, Leo Cardenas and Gordy Coleman — hit Warren Spahn for homers in a 5-4 first game victory over Milwaukee. Jim O'Toole then shut out the Braves with five hits 4-0 in the second game.

Billy Loes, the unpredictable one, pitched the league-leading San Francisco Giants to a 7-0 triumph, holding the Philadelphia Phillies to seven hits. Loes, a relief man when he was traded to the Giants by Baltimore in November 1959, now has a 3-1 record as a starter and a 3.50 earned run average. A year ago his ERA was 12.00.

Los Angeles flexed its muscles at Pittsburgh where homers by Charlie Neal, Norm Larker and Frank Howard gave the Dodgers a 4-2 decision over the defending world champs. Sandy Koufax, with fine relief help from Larry Sherry, was the winner over George Witt, making his first start for the Pirates.

St. Louis' Ernie Broglio retired the last 14 men in a row as the Cardinals climbed up to the .500 mark by beating Chicago 4-2 in a game called after five innings because of rain. A scheduled second game was washed out.

Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou and Ed Bailey backed up Loes' pitching by hitting home runs at Philadelphia. Cepeda's fifth of the year came with two on in the four-run sixth inning, dooming Robin Roberts to his fifth straight defeat.

The Reds exploded against Spahn in the eighth and ninth, just when the 40-year-old lefty appeared headed for his fourth victory and 53rd shutout. Leading 4-0 with one out, Spahn gave up homers to Robinson and Post before he retired Gene Freese. In the ninth the first two up, Cardenas and Coleman applied the crusher.

O'Toole left 12 Braves on the bases and struck out seven while winning his third game.

Koufax ran into trouble in the seventh at Pittsburgh but Sherry bailed him out in fine style. Witt retired the first 16 Dodgers before throwing up a home run ball to Neal in the sixth. Larker hit a two-run homer in the seventh and Frank Howard slammed his fifth of the year in the same inning.

Broglio had a rough first inning when the Cubs scored two runs the abbreviated contest. Julian Javier's two-run double in the second was the winner.

Rudy Schuster Fires 70 to Win Weekend Tourney

Rudy Schuster carded a fine 35-35-70 to lead the field in the Blind Bogey Tournament at the Salem Golf Club over the weekend.

Sharing net honors with Schuster was Clyde Miller who carded a 42-40-82. Miller's handicap of 12 and Schuster's handicap of zero left them tied with net scores of 70.

Three golfers tied for second place with 75's. They were Glenn Harding, 47-48-95 (-20); Dr. R.T. Holzbach, 47-48-95 (-20); and Jim Wingard, 40-41 (-6).

Fourth place went to Robert Snyder who carded a 51-43-94 (-18) for a 76 net.

Bob Hall Loses in 3rd Round

Wayne Washington Places 2nd in Marble Tournament

Wayne "Bink" Washington, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Washington of 570 W. Wilson St., took second place in the District Marble Tournament held at VFW Post 3446 in Orrville Saturday.

Washington was beaten only by last year's state champion, Ricky Lianard of New Philadelphia.

By finishing in the runner-up spot in the district tournament, Washington earned the right to compete in the state tournament.

Sam Sneed Wins Golf Title

Veteran Tops Field In Champions Event

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sam Sneed, golf's all-time leading money winner and the oldest man in the nation to win a major tournament, heads for the West Virginia hills today, richer by $10,000.

Sneed, who'll be 49 May 27, finally added the Tournament of Champions to his roll of victories, breezing in Sunday by seven strokes.

After a shaky start, Sneed put on the pressure in the final nine holes to shoot a three-under-par 69 and a 72-hole score of 273, 15 blows under par.

In the process he matched the early morning high wind and nearly blew his nearest challenger, veteran Tommy Bolt, off the course.

Tommy hung on to take second place and $5,000 with a 71 for wip. Bill Collins' 69 gave him 281 and $3,000. Bob Rosburg, with a 68 for 282, and Doug Ford, with a 73 for 283, were next in line.

Jay Hebert, the leader in the first two rounds, shot a 73 for 284 and a tie with South Africa's Gary Player and Canada's Stan Leonard. Each had a 74.

U.S. Open champion Arnold Palmer would just as soon forget this one. His 296 beat only three others in the select field of 26 professionals.

BOWLING SCORES

Bill Pauline, Jr., and his sister, Karen Pauline, came out on top in their respective divisions in the Saxon Mixed-Up League singles tournament Saturday at Saxon Lanes.

Karen posted a three-game actual score of 487. Her 156 handicap gave her a total of 643 pins. Her 175 single game was also the best recorded in the women's division.

Other women's scores (handicaps in parentheses) were as follows:

Trudy Wilkman 414 (198)—612; Barbara Amon 416 (186)—602; Elaine Weber 37 (222)—600; Darlene Wilkman 423 (177)—600; Jo Ann Linder 468 (126)—594; Gerry Spack 398 (186)—584; and Sally Ulrich 397 (180)—577.

Kate Pauline carded a 167 and Caroline Menning had a 165 in single games.

Men's results were:
Bill Pauline, Jr., 550 (108)—658; Bill Pauline, Sr., 631 (21)—652; Walter Weber 534 (114)—648; Dave Kachner 558 (78)—636; Leonard Yates 513 (120)—633; William Edling 532 (84)—616; Arthur Tontsch 511 (102)—613; Karl Rickman 490 (111)—601; Danny Schmidt 483 (114)—597; and Jim Kirkham 528 (69)—597.

Si Spack and Chuck Montgomery each posted single games of 208. Tontsch had a 253 single game in his 613 series.

Quakers Win Discus, Tie in Pole Vault

Salem Places 6th at Mentor

Defending champion Salem finished sixth in the Mentor Relays Saturday afternoon at Mentor Memorial Field.

Rocky River won the meet with 32 5-6 points, followed by Brush, Painesville, Harvey, Ash-tabula, Maple Heights and Salem. The Quakers had 16 1-3 points. Poland and Boardman tied for eighth place with eight points apiece. Youngstown Cardinal Mooney, Leavittsburg and Leetonia failed to score.

Leetonia entered only the mile and half mile relays. The Bears missed a good chance to place in the half mile relay when they dropped the baton on one of the exchanges.

SALEM DID WIN one event—the discus. The trio of Don Davidson, Bill Beery and Ty Enders combined for a total of 385 ft. 8½ in. with Davidson getting off the longest toss.

The Quakers were involved in a three-way tie for first in the pole vault. Rick Sulea, Fred Harshman and John Panzotti cleared a total of 31 ft. 4 in. Sulea went over 11 ft.

Taking a second place in the shot put was Salem's trio of Ron Janovec, Fred Kaiser and Fred Harshman. Janovec got the iron ball out over 40 feet.

Salem's sprint medley relay team got a fourth. In this event, Jake Evans ran the 220, Ron Janovec the 110, Dave Edling another 110 and Bill Beery the 440. It was Beery who made up a lot of ground in the 440 that got Salem a place in this event.

THE TOP FOUR finishers in this event were very close. The winner was clocked in 1:39.7 while Salem had a 1:40.5.

The entire meet was run in a driving rain. The wind was so strong that the bar for the pole vault had to be held on between jumps to keep it from blowing.

Major League Stars

Batting, Leon Wagner, Angels—his two-run homer and decisive double led Los Angeles to 5-3 victory over New York. It was his sixth homer, four against the Yankees.

Pitching, Billy Loes, Giants — blanked Phillies with seven hits 7-0, his first shutout since 1957.

Fight Results

New York—Yama Bahama, 158, Bimini, B. W. I., outpointed Joey Giambra, 156, Buffalo, 10.

Brescia, Italy — Sante Amonti, 188½, Italy, knocked out Frankie Daniels, 194½, Bakersfield, Calif., 9.

Kelley Field Being Put Into Shape

Softball Season Openers Here Delayed One Week

The opening of the softball season in Salem has been postponed one week to give the Park Commission more time to get the infield at Kelley Park in condition.

It is anticipated that work on the field will be completed this week so that play can open this Saturday night.

Four Class A games have been scheduled for Saturday. They will bring together Lincoln Machine and Ray's Beverage at 6; Mile Branch Grange and Bliss at 7; Spartan AC and Theron's IGA at 8; and Italian-American Club and Alliance AMVETS at 9.

The other Class A team, Shelly

Electric & Appliance, drew a first night bye.

CLASS AA TEAMS are slated to open the season next Monday. On that night Deming Co. will face Stephanie's Tavern at 6:45; Old Dutch will tangle with Shaffer Ford at 8; and Herron Transfer will meet Industrial Mining at 9.

Dave Briskin, executive secretary of the Salem Softball Association, reports that Class A teams will play on Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays while the Class AA clubs will have the field on Mondays and Thursdays. Slow Pitch League teams will play on Wednesdays. Class B loop games will be scheduled every night.

Slow Pitch and Class B League teams will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Memorial Building. Briskin says the Slow Pitch season will probably open on May 24 while Class B is slated to start on June 12. The Slow Pitch team deadline is May 22 when the final league meeting will be held.

THE SALEM MERCHANTS entry in the Penn-Ohio Fast Pitch League will entertain all teams in a preview Saturday, May 20, at Kelley Field. To date, teams from Niles, Warren, Farrell, Youngstown, Cuyahoga Falls and Salem comprise the Penn-Ohio League.

Most of Salem's home games will be played on Sunday afternoons with a few being card for a Friday and Saturday.

Softball umpires will be Tom and Torch Nedelka with help from veterans Dave Kachner, Paul Beery and Herb Williams and newcomers Fred Windon and John Canfield.

Salem City Hospital Candid Observations

(Sixteenth Article of a Series on Hospital Information)

Logistics In The Hospital

"Logistics" is involved with getting the right material, at the right place, at the right time in order to handle normal situations and also crises that may occur. This is a big factor in the armed services in time of war and in a hospital at all times inasmuch as a hospital is constantly at war against disease and injury.

Medical material — drugs, dressings, supplies, blood, linen, textiles, food, equipment and utilities — must be available and usable to physicians and the hospital staff for any and all situations at all times.

If the supply problem is handled haphazardly it can be a very costly proposition. It leads to overbuying, overuse, waste, excessive inventory, confusion, delay, hurried buying at the highest price, and generally speaking it leads to poor morale and poor service.

In this area we need real creative thinking and superb planning. We want: to buy at our leisure (not hurried) and at the most advantageous price, to use supplies wisely, to use the right item for the right job, to take full advantage of new techniques, to prevent breakdowns in equipment and utilities and to keep an adequate emergency stock and a minimum inventory.

We strive to maintain normalcy and a smooth operation at all times in the most economical way possible.

Most hospital supply companies are very cooperative and of great assistance. Recently they have developed many labor-savers which should eventually reduce hospital costs. They have also introduced new methods or systems in various lines of supply.

Purchasing, supply control and preventive maintenance on equipment and utilities need top priority and top talent in a hospital.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My last name is the same as one of the world's most notorious gangsters. He has been dead for a good many years but his name was synonymous with gangland.

People always ask jokingly if I am related to him. It so happens that he was a remote cousin to my father but I certainly don't feel that this is close enough to consider him my relative.

I'm going to be married in a few months and my fiancé's family is pretty social and interested in background. They are giving a big party for me soon. If this question comes up (and I KNOW it will) how shall I handle it?—M.C.

Dear Untouchable: Say, without hesitation, "Of course—we're cousins!" Everyone will think you're kidding.

Knocks The Rocks

Dear Ann Landers: This is for your How Come Department:

While religious leaders, educators and so on are busy riding herd on filthy literature and pornographic art why does the radio continue to offer teen-agers rock and roll music with lyrics that are just plain lewd?

After hearing a few unbelievable lines on the radio I went out and bought the records to play at home so I could be sure my ears weren't deceiving me.

Some of those lines just stopped me dead in my tracks. When adults promote such trash is it any wonder the kids think it's okay? I repeat, HOW COME?—A MOTHER.

Dear Mother: I applaud you and urge all parents who hear this junk to phone their complaints to the radio station, then write or wire. Also write or wire the sponsors and yell your heads off. They continue to defend their position by insisting, "We have to give people what they want." So if you don't want it, let them know.

The Tender Heart

Dear Ann: My husband's mother has sold him the idea that he is sickly and must never exert himself because it's bad for his heart. (Her husband died of a coronary.)

She is forever clipping obituaries of young men who died of heart attacks and giving them to him. Whenever she sees him lifting something, she says, "Let your wife do it." The payoff came when the car wouldn't start and she said, "Let HER push it!"

I'm worn out from the yard work, putting on and removing storm windows and screens, hauling rubbish and doing all the heavy work that a man ought to do. My husband hasn't had a sick day in 10 years and the doctor says he's in perfect health. This is more than I can say for myself. Please help me.—WORN TO A NUB.

Dear Nub: More people have worried themselves into an early grave than ever worked themselves into one. Tell your husband to ask the doctor whether exercise will hurt him.

As for you, heavy lifting and hauling is not woman's work. If he insists on sitting around waiting for his heart to knock out, hire a man to do the heavy work.

Confidentially

TO GOUGED: You didn't feel "gouged" when she quit her job to stay at home and care for her aged mother. Do you have any idea what is involved in caring for an aged person "like an infant"? She deserves to be paid. I'll bet YOU wouldn't have done it for any price.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
